E-COMMERCE LIFESTYLE

The advertisers on this page are "Internet marketers."

Most are stay at home, hard working people determined to make a living at the keyboard.

The 'net is different in some aspects of marketing from our brick and mortar counterparts. Here are a few differences:

The seller is faceless. The buyer is faceless. Customer service is vital. Trust is crucial. Competition is everywhere. Web sites are our store. Overhead is minimal.

Ezines are communication. The publisher is our online newspaper. Over 300,000 ezine are available with tons of themes and subjects covered. To learn about advertising on the Internet, marketing ezines are useful and informative.

The most prevalent problem with advertising on the Internet is UCE (unsolicited commercial emails) and this no-no is conducted by companies who buy lists of emails from unscrupulous vendors who will sell their mother's email for a nickel!

Ezine publishers secure subscribers with opt-in subscriptions. No publisher wants a person on their list who doesn't want to be there. So, if you subscribe to an ezine and decide it's not for you, there is an unsubscribe link in every issue. Discover the world of ezines by visiting a Directory of Ezines. Just put those words in any search engine and you will open a world of ezines.

Advertising your business in a quality ezine can target a whole new audience for your business. They are waiting to take your products and services to the world...

The publishers of this magazine do not endorse the services or products of any of its advertisers or stories and makes no claims to such.

Working together to bring your business to the world.
